I. CALL TO ORDER
A quorum being present, the regularly scheduled teleconference meeting of the Riverside County Board of Law Library Trustees was called to order by President Lucky at 12:13 pm.

II. PUBLIC COMMENT
Alysa Cua, Kristin Southall, Andrea Valencia, Jenna Pontious, and Matthew Palacios identified themselves as staff and SEIU member who have been with the library for one or two-year period. Each one expressed their support for fair living wage, reiterated their comments made at past board meetings in support of their Union’s proposed salary increase, and made their plea for salary adjustment.

Alysa stated that she goes above and beyond her job duties, staff wages have not kept up, staff at other libraries are compensated much higher, her current salary can’t sustain her family, and asked for fair compensation.

Kristin stated that she is passionate about fair compensation for staff, there is no reason why they don’t deserve a living wage, and their wage doesn’t match the level of salaries seen at other prestigious institutions.

Andrea stated that the wages at this library does not compare with other libraries. She cited as an example that a library associate at the Riverside City Library is compensated more than her librarian salary, this position requires an MLS, is equal to or less than a librarian but pays more. She urged the Board to make appropriate salary adjustment.

Jenna stated that the library can’t attract top talent unless it pays more than what other employers pay, to provide high quality service, in light of the great resignation, businesses have to change, people don’t want to work if they are not paid well, and she urged the Board’s support for fair living wage.

Matthew expressed his support for wage increase and described how the closure in Indio and Temecula in the past two years affected his colleagues, put a lot of pressure on them, and he believes that they deserve a wage increase.

Judge Lucky stated that the Board appreciates the staff and understands their frustration, and at the same time it must balance a couple of concerns: to make sure that they budget, and with unknown source of funds, filing fees. He pointed out that SEIU has been representing and actively involved in the last few contracts and the current wages are not wages that were imposed by the Board. Those wages were negotiated by SEIU a few years ago. As a Board, it also needs to make sure that it operates within its budget, able to sustain it for the future, and is working with the Union. It is not a question of whether staff are entitled but rather how the Board can pay for them.
A staff member has been on the phone assisting Esmeralda who was having trouble logging and unable to join the meeting. Staff relayed to the Board Esmeralda’s message that the library closure is affecting her ability to do her casework. Judge Hopp suggested that she can send her request to the Board in writing next time.

F. Approval of the G/M Final Interior Design and Price Quote for the Library Main Reading Room Furniture Remodel
   President Lucky informed the Board that this is part of the remodel but not under the TCC contract, and that the project is getting close to the budget limits set for it which is $3.5 to $4 million and may go a little over. He stated that the Board looked at modernizing the facility, the proposed design is a pretty comprehensive plan which includes using the existing books shelves and cutting them down to worksurface level, refacing their end-panels, replacing the hardware of the compact shelves system which is at its breaking point, and a new furniture for the information services desk area. The new furniture is of high quality, the chairs are by Herman Miller, and the fabrics selected are stain resistant.

   Ryan Kahrs, the project manager, provided the Board with an update on the construction: things are moving along, roofing is a concern, there is issue with the manufactured and the updated version. The cost is substantial to reroof the entire roof so a change order request is made for 25% of the roof at $37K cost. There is warranty on the entire roof not just the replaced portion. Work on the 3rd floor is completed, work on the 2nd floor is close to completion, still need to close-up the ceiling. The carpet project is on track, moving the furniture and demo is moving forward next week. He stated the delay to October helped moved the construction along.
