Conservatorship

What is a conservatorship?

According to Nolo Publishing, conservatorship is a “legal arrangement that gives an adult the court-ordered authority and responsibility to manage another adult’s financial affairs.” The Riverside Superior Courts add that the “conservator is responsible for the conservatee’s daily needs.”

There are three types of conservatorship:

1. General Probate Conservatorship: For adults who are incapable of providing for their personal needs due to physical injury, mental illnesses or other reasons.
2. Limited Conservatorship: Only for those who are developmentally disabled; Powers for the conservator are limited, enabling the conservatee to live as independently as possible.
3. Lanterman-Petris-Short (LPS) Conservatorship: For gravely disabled persons who may be a danger to themselves or others; Might require hospitalization in a facility; Conservator must be reappointed annually; EXTRA protective measures are utilized to ensure the conservatee’s civil rights are not being violated.
